Re: Supply Chain Continuity - 2019 Novel Coronavirus Consideration

To Our Customers,

The Burgess Pigment Company procurement group has verified that none of our critical raw materials are currently being sourced from China, which has been heavily affected by 2019 Novel Coronavirus. In addition, we maintain multiple approved sources of supply for all critical raw materials should catastrophic events disrupt our primary supply chain. We will continue to closely monitor our supply sources and will respond appropriately to ensure uninterrupted supply to meet all our customer requirements.

Please feel free to contact us if you need further information on our critical raw material procurement position or global sourcing strategy.

Regards,

Sam Martinez
